

Cognitive

The child develops strategies and acquires knowledge to better and better understand the world around her. She is experienced in problem solving and decision making. She wakes up to mathematics and science.